Turnstile Tours are built around in-depth research, community and industry partnerships, and interactive experiences. We offer both public and private tours that focus on the inner-workings of New York City, from markets and food trucks in Manhattan to factories, shipyards, and industrial parks on the Brooklyn waterfront.

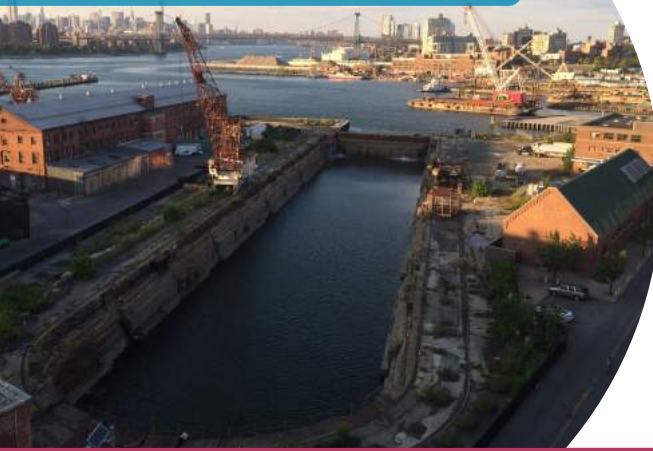

With our unique expertise, we deliver high-quality tours that appeal to a range of audiences, both local and international. In addition to our robust public tour programming, we regularly host academic groups, architects, urban planners, real estate professionals, corporate groups, international delegations, and more. Whether you're interested in Manhattan's street vendors, New York City's public market system, or the makers and manufacturers of the Brooklyn Navy Yard and Brooklyn Army Terminal, we can craft a tour to suit your interests and wow your visitors.

Custom Itinerary

Length: 3-5 hours

Brooklyn's Industrial Waterfront

This itinerary includes in-depth visits to the Brooklyn Navy Yard and Army Terminal with a focus on how these historic sites have been adapted for modern industry. Get dramatic views of the harbor while learning about the waterfront's history and recent resurgence as a place for industry, housing, and recreation. Other sites may include Brooklyn Bridge Park, Green-Wood Cemetery, Industry City, and Red Hook.

Public Tours:

- Walking tours on the 1st and 3rd Saturday of every month
- $22 per person
- All Brooklyn Army Terminal Tours and select Brooklyn Navy Yard Tours are certified by the American Institute of Architects

BROOKLYN ARMY TERMINAL

Step inside this engineering marvel on Brooklyn's waterfront that is today a thriving industrial park. Originally constructed for World War One and designed by celebrated architect Cass Gilbert (designer of Manhattan's Woolworth Building), explore the Terminal's unique design, military history, and reinvention today as a home for industries ranging from food manufacturing to advanced biotechnology. This walking tour is a must-see for visitors interested in military history, architecture, or economic development.

FOOD CART TOURS

Sample an international buffet from New York City's best food carts, food trucks, and pop-up markets. Enjoy generous tastings ranging from Korean barbecue to Middle Eastern falafel to Belgian waffles. Along the way, listen to the stories of hard-working sidewalk entrepreneurs, learn the history of street vending, and understand the daily challenges and triumphs that these vendors encounter daily in this bustling city.

Tours are offered on weekdays in Manhattan's Financial District and Midtown.

Public Tours:

- Financial District / 2 hours / Wed 12pm
- Midtown / 2 hours / Fri 2pm
- $48 per person, including 5-6 tastings
- Tastings can accommodate most dietary needs

Custom Itinerary

Length: 2-4 hours

New York Food Systems

This custom itinerary can visit public markets and/or mobile food vendors and pop-ups to explore the past and present connections between New York City's vast food system and food entrepreneurship. Including generous tastings from fantastic vendors, the tour can be offered in Brooklyn, Manhattan, or both, and incorporate visits to manufacturing, distribution, and other support facilities.

Public Tours:

- Essex Street Market / 1.5 hours / Sat & Sun
- Moore Street Market / 2 hours / Monthly
- $48 per person, including 5-7 tastings
- Tastings can accommodate most dietary needs

PUBLIC MARKET TOURS

Experience the sights, stories, and tastes of New York City's historic public retail markets. Every weekend, we offer tours of the Essex Street Market, a Lower East Side institution since 1940, where visitors will sample generous tastings including fresh-baked breads, gourmet cheeses, Japanese street food, and traditional Mexican fare. We also offer tours of Brooklyn's Moore Street Market and surrounding community, focusing on Latin American cuisine and culture.
